The solicitor says that Mr. Castle was absolutely innocent and that justice required his acquittal, Mrs. Castle, he said, was very much broken down by her ordeal. Her defense, Mr. Abrahams intimated, would be mental irresponsibility, owing to her sirferings from troubles peculiar to females. A STANDING DISGRACE,

Condition of Twelfth South Street-It is Deplorable.
Sugarhouse, Oct. 21.
To the Editor of The Herald:

The people of Sugar House living on and in the vicinity of Twelfth South street, between State street and the

The people of Sugar House living on and in the vicinity of Twelfth South street, between State street and the penitentiary, are very indignant over the condition of that theroughfare between the points named. The reason for this is about as follows: This is the season of the year that sheep men move their flocks from their summer to their winter range. Sheep herders coming out of Emigration canyon must pass along Twelfth South street until they reach the Jordan river, and it has been the habit of the county court to sprinkle this street until the sheep herds had passed or until our fall storms came and put the road in good shape for sheep to travel along without everlastingly enveloping everything and everybody in a cloud of dust.

Some time ago for some reason or other, Geddes, Christopherson & Co. stopped the "prinking of Twelfth South, and when it is remembered that these worthies, through our road supervisor, graveled this street during the summer with a sort of gravel mixed largely with dust, and which must have cost quite a large sum of money, and now for the want of a little water are letting it go to rain, can it be wondered at that the people of Sugar House are indigmant. Twelfth South street is a standing disgrace to those managing the affairs of the county, and the people living along that street will not forget this on election day. We have swallowed enough dust in the last few weeks to warrant us in demanding a change in the personnel of our county court, and we are going to get that change by marking an X opposite the rooster and letting it go at that. Some people inght think this letter is written for political effect; to them I would say just come and live on this street I have referred to, where there is from two to six luches of dust, and where several herds of sheep travel over nearly every day, for about six weeks in the spring and fall, when you can't see your neighbor accoss the street for clouds of dust, you will, I think, come to the conclusion that we have just cause for compalaint.

God did the best.
-Helen Hunt Jackson.

FARMS VS. CITIES.

You come to us and tell us that the great cities are infavor of the gold standard. I tell you that the great cities rest upon these broad and fertile prairies. Burn down your cities and leave our farms, and your cities will spring up again as if by magic. But desiroy our farms, and the grass will grow in the streets of every city in this country. — William Jennings Bryan.

It is a handsome book. The Gover-nors of New York, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, California, Illinois and several other states have said it is by far the handwessest work gotten out for any of the states represented at Chicago. It contains over 200 pages and is handsomely illustrated. The Utah building and all of the principal exhibits are shown. It is a permanent and last-ing record of the Workl's Fair and the part Utah took in that grand exposi-tion. It is handsomely bound in cloth and will be a valuable addition to any Phrary. It contains very interesting reading matter. It is as fascinating as any story book ever written.
